Reasons for Allowance

1. Claims 1, 4-13, 15-19, and 21-24 are allowed.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The closest prior art is CACI's FieldForce Planning services and territory optimization software, which are commonly used together, as disclosed in:

"CACI Information Solutions" (published Summer 2001 in Marketing Solutions Today and retrieved from <URL: http://www.caci.co.uk/pdfs/mst_Summer_2001.pdf> on May 17, 2003]); and

"CACI Limited Home Page" (dated June 2001 and retrieved from <URL: <http://web.archive.org/web/20010610010807/www.caci.co.uk>> on May 26, 2003]).

"CACI Information Solutions" discloses various maps with distinct territories identified (Page 6, ¶¶ 2-4, InSite Field Force map; Page 7, ¶¶ 5-6, figure). The outlined boundaries of these individual territories as well as the exterior of the area containing all of the territories are delineated/sketched, i.e., traced, as such; therefore, CACI's FieldForce Planning services and territory optimization software generally discloses the concept of assigning business representatives to various geographic units based on a trace. However, independent claims 1, 13, and 19 have been amended to recite the details of how a trace is hand-drawn by a user as a line defining a closed boundary on a map. Bailey (U.S. Patent No. 6,604,083) discloses the concept of a human analyst tracing an area around a geographical point encompassing a potential market area (col. 4, lines 57-60); however, neither CACI's FieldForce Planning services and territory optimization software nor Bailey teaches or suggests utilizing such a hand-drawn trace to manage a geographical distribution of business representatives, including the specification of a change in assignment of a geographical unit to a new business representative, at the level of detail recited in independent claims 1, 13, and 19.

Therefore, claims 1, 4-13, 15-19, and 21-24 are deemed to be allowable over the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
